92ND YEAR

GETTYSBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 8, 1909

NO. 3

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

FLAG PRESENTED TO THE GETTYSBURG HIGH SCHOOL.

By the Patriotic Order Sons of America and Order of Independent Americans.

Labor Day was an ideal one and the greater part of the citizens of Gettysburg gathered at the point, York and Hanover streets, to witness the ceremony of the presentation of a handsome flag by the Patriotic Order Sons of America and Independent Americans of this place to the Gettysburg High School. The front triangle presented an inspiring scene, crowded with the schools and flanked on either side by crowds of people on York and Hanover streets. The front portico had been arranged for the speaker's stand and was elaborately trimmed by Charles Little, janitor of the building. The parade formed on High street promptly at 1:30 and led by the Citizens' Band, followed by a uniformed delegation of members of the P. O. S. of A. and I. A. M., and many others, moved down High street, down Baltimore street north on that street to Chambersburg street and then eastward through the Square to the High School building. The school children of the town marched separately from their buildings to the same point. The interesting program was opened with an invocation by Rev. L. Dow Ott. Superintendent of Schools H. Milton Roth then took charge as master of ceremonies and after the school children had sung "America," accompanied by Band, introduced J. C. Strayer, Fast State President of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, who said in part as follows:

"This is an occasion to appeal to every citizen. It will be a memorable occasion for years to come. The orders interested in the making of this occasion are particularly interested in the schools of this land. There are three principles which have come to us from the fathers and have individualized the American nation. They are, that all men are born free and equal, the delegation of powers to representatives and that the people have the say whether they shall be taxed or not. These principles have always been paramount and they have been so because we are an educated people believing in schools. We have come together on this auspicious occasion to float to the breeze the Stars and Stripes. We believe the American emblem to be the most beautiful and the most significant of all flags in the world. It is and has been an inspiration to every veteran, and should be an inspiration to every boy and girl, and for this reason the orders represented here seek to have a flag flying at every school house. It is because of the duty owed to that flag will the great ship of state go forward to its destiny. We lead the world today because we have educated the masses and every citizen should be interested in the schools and stand by what has made the nation great. We all love and respect the flag but sometimes we forget to give it the reverence due it and it is well to have occasions like this to arouse us to the full significance of our citizenship. The order, I stand for here to-day is one that concerns itself with the public good and believers in the education of the children, sowing the seed for the building and protection of the nation to-morrow. We believe the standard of American citizenship should be raised. It is our duty to raise that standard not only for the sake of others but for our own welfare. I esteem it a pleasure and honor to see so many gathered together here to-day. It shows your good feeling toward the school and must encourage the sentiment in your community that it is the right and proper thing to be graduated from the public schools of your town."

The Band played "Star Spangled Banner" while the school children sang the words, and at the conclusion Prof. Roth announced that the flag given by the Patriotic Order Sons of America and Order of Independent Americans would now be presented by Judge S. McC. Swope.

Judge Swope said in part, "I certainly consider it a great honor on this occasion to represent the two orders, the Patriotic Order Sons of America and Order of Independent Americans in presenting the flag to the High School. I don't belong to these orders for I came to the conclusion some years ago that I was too old to join any more orders but if I understood the principles underlying these orders I am heartily in accord with the principles for which they stand. It is as true to-day as it ever was that the privileges and liberties we enjoy today are bought at the price of eternal vigilance. When this spot on which we stand was chosen for the High School building I felt the School Board had made a wise choice. I am in a reminiscent mood. I have never been a school director but by direction and indirection I have been through every school in the borough. I went through school after school in the old building on High street until I was allowed to graduate. All my children attended the school in the Meade building and my baby girl graduated this year at this new High School building. The office of school director is one of the most important and vital of our local offices and the most faithful and conscientious of our directors often receive criticism which are annoying. I believe it to be the almost unanimous sentiment of the town that the directors deserve thanks for their work in erecting this new building. It is happily located, thoroughly equipped and honestly built and soon there won't be any one in this town but will join in praise of their action.

"I want to say that these orders I represent to-day have presented the flag for a great purpose, to inspire the boys and girls to perform their duties as citizens, as the coming sovereigns of our nation. The flag is presented to the school with the hope that it will be a constant reminder of the duties we owe our country. The waving of Old Glory in front of all the schools is due in large measure to the orders I represent here. I believe our country's flag floating in the morning and evening air will reach the hearts of many citizens, old and young, so that out of them will spring that sentiment 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

"The great Hamilton had once said, 'It is either for us to dig a grave in which to bury the hopes of ages or a pillar of cloud to lead to a promised land. Our nation is heaven's intended government for the children of men but it will never be an abiding blessing unless we as a people prove ourselves worthy of our land or we will lose them. Let us all realize that there is a clarion call for duty at every election. Let us all be as unwilling to neglect this duty in peace as to face the enemy in times of war. Liberty and privileges, as I said, are bought at the price of eternal vigilance and let us safeguard and protect them. This is what the flag we present to-day teaches. Let us realize that the right to vote is not only a privilege but a duty and that we will be recreant if we neglect it. Let us remember that our civic duties should be as zealously performed as our individual duties. Let us resent the use of money and improper motives at the polls. One of the lessons of this flag raising is, how are you going to act and do as one of the possessors of our great heritage, are you going to dig the grave or help to build the tower. I now present to the Gettysburg High School on behalf of the Patriotic Order Sons of America and Order of Independent Americans our country's flag and it will soon fly from the pole generously presented by Senator Martin and erected by Wm. H. Johns." Judge Swope closed with quotations from "The Building of the Ship."

Four High School girls, Edna Bender, Jean Sier, Margaret Sherrick and Blanche Stoops then pulled to the top of the pole the flag and as it swung from the top of the pole it opened and scattered a thousand little glories to the breeze, which were quickly picked up as souvenirs.

Prof. W. A. Burgoon was then introduced by Prof. Roth, and said: "On behalf of the people of Gettysburg, and specially on behalf of the High School of Gettysburg, it gives me great pleasure to accept this flag so generously presented by your representative, Judge Swope. Your orders have always stood for the highest citizenship and your presence to-day is a great inspiration and we hope this inspiration will be most helpful in our work. The flag is a symbol that stands for our dearest bought liberties and we can not see it without thinking of those who gave their lives for their country. The flag now represents to us a fight against vice and ignorance. We need your help in this struggle. As an army must have a base of supplies and a people supporting it, so we must have your support and your presence here means that you stand for all that is good for your schools. I thank the orders for their thoughtfulness and kindness in presenting us with this emblem of this land of the free. Again on behalf of the High School I thank you."

Prof. Roth then introduced State Councilor Edward Wilson of the Order of American Mechanics, who opened his address by likening himself to the boys playing automobile and after the front wheels, body and rear wheels represented by the boys had passed a poor lone boy was met who said he was the bad smell and the speaker thought he was in that position as the last thing that happens. He said he had traveled from the shore and arrived after the exercises had begun and came to show the appreciation of his order for what had been done. He referred to Dewey at Manila and Schley at Santiago so that the sun never sets on the American flag but not satisfied with that we have annexed the North Pole. Do you duty at the ballot box for there is no greater ambition that can come from the lips than what your Honorable Judge told you to safeguard your future. The speaker told of the two men in Pekin during the Boxer uprising, the American pointing out to his Austrian companion the flag of the Emperor of Germany, of the Tsar, of the Mikado, but when he saw the Stars and Stripes, and proudly pointed it out as "My Flag," one that did not belong to king, emperor or tsar. I never look at a flag raising without feeling that it will teach the boys and girls to respect their government. The speaker then referred to the criticism sometimes made against the orders as being against foreigners. He said that was a mistake. That they welcomed every foreigner able to appreciate the liberties of this country, but when he comes to tear down he is the man we do not want. Our aim is to raise men's ideals and make them better men. In conclusion he said the orders were to be congratulated in joining hands in the making of this occasion.

After the High School Band and Glee Club had played a medley of national airs, Judge Swope on behalf of the High School Alumni Association presented to the High School a piano bought of George E. Spangler, piano dealer, and said it was largely to the efforts of the President, John Sachs, that all arrangements had been completed so as to present the piano at this time. Judge Swope also presented a set of eight volumes on Parliamentary Law, the gift of Prof. J. Louis Sowers.

The very interesting and happy occasion closed with the benediction by Rev. L. Dow Ott and music by the Band.

W. C. T. U. Convention

The twenty-third annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Adams County, held in the Lutheran Church at York Springs, Saturday, Sept. 4th, was one of the best ever held, although less easy of access than some other places. There was a fair number of visitors and delegates present. The Gettysburg Union was represented by fourteen, and Arendtsville by six. Sickiness prevented the president and treasurer from being present and the recording secretary had a conflicting engagement previously arranged for the same day. Mrs. Wierman, appointed secretary pro tem, of the Union of York Springs, numbering forty-two regular members and nine honorary, gave a charming welcome and all delegates and visitors in their homes all day and entertained in their homes all delegates and visitors and drivers and fed the horses and left nothing undone to make the convention a success.

Rev. Stanley Billheimer conducted the opening devotional exercises by reading the 46th Psalm and a most earnest prayer for the temperance cause after which the organization was effected by the roll call of delegates and appointment of committees.

Mrs. Keith, acting in place of the president, read her very able address stating the object of the work, quoting from Miss Francis Willard in laying emphasis on the Christian motive and explained the different departments.

Rev. Leonard Gardner welcomed the delegates on behalf of the local union. He spoke of the hindrances to our work, especially two, the appetite for alcoholic drinks and the money that is made by the manufacture and sale of them.

Mrs. Philip Houck responded in a pleasing manner.

Mrs. Twisden gave her report as Corresponding Secretary. There are now 150 members, 70 more than one year ago.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $62.81, out of which has been paid State dues of 30 cents per member and county dues of 10 cents. Also contributions to the Willard memorial fund, and money paid for sundries.

A memorial service for Miss Mary Davis, our late Superintendent of Evangelistic and Jail Work, and John Sweeney, the husband of Mrs. Cecelia Sweeney, the former corresponding secretary, and the noonday hour of prayer led by Miss Lillie McClean, ended the morning session.

After a period of rest and refreshment in the homes of our kind hostesses, the afternoon session opened by devotional service led by Mrs. Sheets. The following officers were elected: Mrs. E. Belle Weidner wishing to be relieved for the present, Miss Alice Longsdorf was elected President; Mrs. Hellen Keith, Vice President; Mrs. Twisden, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Louise Stahl, Recording Secretary; Miss Julia Krise, Treasurer.

Mrs. Houck read the report of the Woman's Union of Gettysburg. Miss Eva Danner for the Young Women's Union. Miss Annie Sheely for the Arendtsville Union, and Mrs. Emmert reported for the York Springs Union. Miss Vergie Musser told of its Gettysburg Seniors' League and gave a report of the State L. T. L. convention. Miss Annie Longsdorf sent her report, read by Miss Stella Trostle of the Temperance League for the county. We have now three senior and seven junior Legions.

Mrs. Rice reported for the Arendtsville Legion. The exercises were interspersed with some good music, besides the State Song and others. There were duets by Miss Pearson of York Springs, and Miss Sheely of Arendtsville, a motion song by four little girls of York Springs, and a solo by Mrs. Rice.

A paper prepared by Miss Longsdorf was read by Mrs. Keith. Resolutions were read and adopted emphasizing the importance of the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion, the training of teachers in colleges and universities and normal schools to properly teach temperance by giving and urging the enforcement of law against the use of liquor.

Hundreds of Excursionists

Excursionists by the hundreds visited Gettysburg on last Saturday and Sunday. They came from New Jersey and New York. The first party arrived Saturday morning and were soon in conveyances going over the field. A large party arrived in the afternoon and a third party in the evening. The Eagle Hotel was crowded, over four hundred taking breakfast there on Sunday morning. The Hotel Gettysburg had a big crowd. Sunday trains brought many visitors and about half a hundred automobiles came in the same day.

A grass fire started on Sunday on the big slope of Culp's hill south of the third bridge and burnt over quite an area before put out. Wm. Spangler discovered the fire and with help had it out before it reached the woods.

BIG APPLE CROP PURCHASED

ABOUT A HALF CROP OF APPLES IS THE VERDICT.

The Best Prices Ever Received for the Apple Crop Make This The Best Year.

The apple buyers invaded the apple district last week and their presence created a stir in a number of sections of the county. The buyers came from Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Chambersburg and Hagerstown.

Many reports have gone out about the apple crop of this county, both that it was a failure and that it was going to be a bumper crop. The truth as we gather it from a number of owners of orchards and others is that the apple crop in a large number of the orchards is about a half crop or as some put it a good half crop, but the difference in prices between this packing, so that prices so far received are largely uniform. W. N. Minick of Chambersburg purchased the crop of H. L. Bream of Fayetteville parcels crop of James Lawver of Franklin township at $3 and Mr. Rothwell that of Wm. Bittinger at from $3 to $2, depending upon variety of apples.

Tyson Bros. of Flora Dale, purchasing for Kimbell Co. of New York City, have so far been the largest buyers, having closed with John Shull of near Cashtown, whose crop is estimated at 3000 barrels at $3.25, and for crop of Adam Beardsorf of same township at same figure, whose crop is estimated at 1500 barrels and the apple yield of two years ago will result in more money being paid for the apple crop than two years ago. Indeed apples will bring more per barrel than ever before in the history of apple raising in this section. Two years ago they brought $2.25 and this year from 75 cents to $1.00 more per barrel. The top price so far heard has been received by H. L. Bream of Cashtown, who sold his Johnston apples at $3.50 a barrel, and the York Imperial crop at $3.00 a barrel. The latter seems to be the price at which most of the purchases are being made. In several instances only $2.50 was received but where that sum was paid the buyers are to do the packing and furnish the barrels, and where $3.00 is received the owner of the orchard furnishes barrels and does the packing.

The Raffensperger orchards near Arendtsville have also been bought by the same at $3.50 and the Bream orchards near Biglerville at the same figure.

The sales so far include some of the largest orchards in the county but there are many orchards that have not sold. Many of these smaller orchards running several hundred barrels or less will be picked up from now on until they are all disposed of.

Kockey Cottage Burned.

The cottage of Rev. C. H. Kockey, pastor of Lutheran church at Waynesboro, located on the High Rock at Penmar, burned to ground early last Saturday morning. Mrs. Ella Saylor of Baltimore was the tenant and conducted a lodging house and a dozen people were in the rooms. The fire started in dining room and the only theory of fire advanced is that some one entered cottage to rob it and carried a lighted lamp which exploded, as a sound like footsteps and an explosion were heard. There were a number of thrilling escapes by boarders clad only in night robes. One man climbed down by a tree and helped his wife from the second story porch. Mrs. Saylor lost all her household goods. The loss of Rev. Kockey is about $800 with insurance of $600 and Mrs. Saylor's loss about $700. The boarders lost nearly all their belongings.

Court Notes

S. Miley Miller was discharged as administrator and trustee to sell real estate of Catharine Starry, deceased, and was authorized to pay into court the share of Henry W. Starry of $342.75 confined at the Mt. Hope Retreat.

Wm. Hersh, administrator c. t. a. of Joseph King, paid into court 92 cents, the amount of legacy bequeathed to Ann Shindeldecker, and was discharged.

Sales of Real Estate

The Cornelius Blevens estate of 90 acres near East Berlin was recently bought by Lewis Kuhn at $50 per acre. Jacob R. and Wm. R. Longenecker, administrators of A. B. Longenecker, sold at public sale a farm of 205 acres in Liberty township at Zora to Mrs. Wm. Maxwell for $457.50.

The property of Mrs. Kassiah Hon, in Littlestown, has been sold to H. Robert H. Wilson of same place, for $825, who will erect a residence on same at an early date.

Well Equipped Teacher Advanced.

Charles H. Richter, a teacher of Adams county schools, for a number of years, and recently in charge of the advanced grades at the Sand Hill School in Conowingo township at the edge of McSherrytown, was elected teacher in the eighth grade in the Hanover schools last week. Mr. Richter lives in Berwick township and has been a very successful teacher and was twice a candidate for Superintendent of Schools of this county. His new position carries a salary of $90 per month. Prof. E. S. Wolf, a native of Abbottstown and instructor in mathematics in the Hanover High School, resigned to become instructor in physics in Harrisburg Technical High School at salary of $115 per month. Chas. R. Albright, principal of one of the schools of Hanover was elected to fill position of Prof. Wolf and this created the vacancy which Mr. Richter was advanced.

The school directors of Conowingo township met and advanced J. Francis Yake to Mr. Richter's position in the Sand Hill school, and elected Wm. P. Baker of Hamilton township, ex-Clerk of the Courts of this county, as teacher to succeed Mr. Yake.

Small Barn Burnt.

The small barn on the property of Chas. Bollinger, near White Hall, Mountpleasant township, was totally destroyed by fire with its contents, on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 28. Mr. Bollinger recently sold the property to George Myers, and was having sale of his personal property at the time when the fire broke out. The blaze started at the side of a straw stack, presumably from a lighted cigar, but despite the effort of the crowd present, the flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved, and the barn with a large lot of hay, straw, rye, straw stack, hog pen and chicken house were reduced to ashes. The loss is estimated at about $500. The barn was insured in the Littlestown company for $150, there was also some insurance on contents. There were several horses and a cow in the barn at the time but they were gotten out with great difficulty.

On Sunday, Sept. 5 a fire burnt over the old Andy Hartman mill farm in Franklin township on road from Mummaburg to Hill Town. The growth on farm was very dry and fire quickly consumed it.

A forest fire is raging on what is known as Big Hill between Cashtown and Buchanan Valley. The fire broke out on Sunday. The wood is dry and the dry weather creates a condition for the quick spreading of a forest fire. The fire is being fought and help has been asked for and everything is being done to get it under control quickly.

Engagement Announced

The engagement has been announced of Miss Edythe R. Plank of Reading, daughter of J. Jere Plank and wife of Gettysburg, to John E. Shirey, son of Abraham Shirey and wife of Birdsboro. Miss Plank is a well known and esteemed young lady among a wide circle in society, and has been employed as competent cost operator in ladies tailoring, by the C. K. Whitman and Co. of Reading during the past seasons, and has just returned from quite an extended trip to various points in New Jersey, The sea-shore, New York City and Hitchfield, Conn.

Mr. Shirey is a well known and highly respected personage among his wide circle of friends, being employed for the past ten years by the Brooke Steel and Iron Co., of Birdsboro, where he holds an excellent position.

This young couple have many friends, who wish them much success and happiness in their future career.

Oiled Streets.

Oiled streets have been very successful in Toronto, Canada, where a crude petroleum preparation to all its Macadamized streets with a total length of over 100 miles have been done under the supervision of the board of health of that city and the authorities. State the process is cheaper than by a water sprinkling. Only one-fourth of a gallon to a square yard has been used. There would be about 80 square yards to every 30 feet of frontage and twenty gallons on this frontage would cost at 3 cents a gallon but 60 cents a sprinkling. At such a figure a town should be dustless. Col. H. C. Denning of Harrisburg, well known here had made an oil compound which the officers of Toronto declare to be the best, cheapest and most durable of any that they have used.

School Directors in Session

The School Directors of Gettysburg held their regular monthly meeting on last Thursday evening, and the matter of compulsory attendance was discussed. Trustful Officer Utz reported that there were people who took an antagonistic point of view, and others who made all kinds of poor excuses for nonattendance of their children. The board determined that they would leave nothing undone to put the compulsory law in full force, for eight months, that from Oct. 1st to end of school year every child in the town that should be in school must be there, and if it was proposed to enforce the law even if parents would have to be prosecuted. Mr. Utz will have a badge showing his authority, and will start his work on October 1. To an inquiry of Prof. Burgoon what rate should be charged pupils from other districts, and it was determined that last year rate should prevail, $3.00 per month in the High School, and $2.00 per month in other grades. Mrs. Stewert was elected substitute teacher for the present term.

Hammers Farm.

Coming to the great advance of farm land throughout the country, the Hammers' farm in Highland township, will be sold at $35 per acre until October 1st, 1909, after that date it will not be for sale under $40 per acre. This farm is like garden ground and is today worth $75 per acre, according to the way western land is selling. S. S. W. HAMMERS, Agent.

THE NORTH POLE FOUND

BY AN AMERICAN, DR. FREDERIC A. COOK, OF BROOKLYN.

Stars and Stripes Planted on Goal of the Centuries—Discoverer Reaches Denmark.

The world was electrified last Wednesday with the startling news from the Shetland Islands that Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, had reached the North Pole on April 21, 1908. He left New York on July 4th, 1907, and in less than a year had reached the goal of the centuries.

Dr. Cook is not a novice at exploration. He was a surgeon and ethnologist in the first Peary expedition of 1891-92, assistant in command of the Miranda expedition which ended in disaster in 1894, surgeon and anthropologist of the Belgian Antarctic expedition which was gone between the years 1897 and 1899 and surgeon in the Peary expedition of 1901. He was the first conqueror of Mt. McKinley in Alaska.

His life reads like that of a typical American. He was born in 1863 in Sullivan county, New York, of an old Dutch family. At death of his parents there was little estate left. Moving to Brooklyn he bought a milk route and earned the money that put him through Columbia University. His life from the start has been one of indomitable perseverance.

His dash for the North was made with all the modesty and determination of the typical American. There was no blowing of horns in the preparation. Only a few knew of his determination. Going north he finds the situation favorable for a dash. He travels as far as possible during the northern night and on Feb. 9, sunrise begins the final dash, and reaches the pole after thrilling experiences, with two Eskimos. The return trip is made under enormous difficulties and facing starvation at several points. The first word from him is sent from the Shetland Islands last Wednesday and Saturday he reaches Copenhagen and is received by the King of Denmark and given a tremendous welcome. He had with him a record of his observations taken daily and cursory examination of same by the leading explorers and scientists of Europe have satisfied them of the truth of the discovery of the North Pole.

Dr. Cook is expected to return to America in about a month and will receive a welcome from his own land that will probably eclipse all welcomes previously given.

It seems like a sequel that Commander Robert Peary should telegraph from Labrador on Sept. 6th: "Stars and Stripes nailed to North Pole," the pole being reached on April 6, 1909 almost one year after Dr. Cook had found the pole.

An Opportunity for Our Schools.

Miss Anna Hake returned from Chicago University and took charge of her school, the Freshman class of High School, at the opening of the school last week. Miss Hake returns after completing work at the University which qualifies her to teach the first year's course in Manual training. Miss Hake's devotion to study won her a scholarship at the Chicago University and her work there has received high commendation from her instructors. Miss Hake is enthusiastic over her work.

Gettysburg has an opportunity by having a teacher so qualified to make a beginning with a course in manual training. It is going to come in our schools before very long and quicker than many realize. Manual training in schools is no longer an experiment but is recognized by the greater educational men of the day as an ideal toward which to build the school. The School Board of Gettysburg has an opportunity which should be seized at once. They should arrange for the inauguration of the first year's course in manual training. Let a period each day or several times a week be assigned to it. A few tools and appliances would make it possible.

In every school there are boys and girls who do not take to books but become interested in doing things with their hands now in school who find it difficult to do mechanical things with their hands and brain. It would rid many a school room of the spirit of restlessness and develop a diligence that only employment of the hands can give. The Compiler urges a start at that which will have much to do to make our schools up-to-date and more efficient.

Hammer's Farm.

Coming to the great advance of farm land throughout the country, the Hammers' farm in Highland township, will be sold at $35 per acre until October 1st, 1909, after that date it will not be for sale under $40 per acre. This farm is like garden ground and is today worth $75 per acre, according to the way western land is selling. S. S. W. HAMMERS, Agent.

O. OF I. A. Pro-Nro—Battlefield Council No. 717, will hold a picnic at Round Top on Wednesday, Sept. 8th, —afternoon and evening. Dancing and all kinds of refreshments.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

C. LA RUE MUNSON, FOR JUSTICE OF SUPREME COURT.

Makes Great and Learned Speech in Accepting the Nomination at the Formal Notification.

C. LaRue Munson, the Democratic Candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court when formally notified of his nomination accepted the honor, making following address:

"The honor conferred upon me by the free and unanimous choice of the Democratic State convention, voiced by you its representatives, compels a gratification not easily expressed. It is appreciated the more because your other nominees are such distinguished gentlemen as George W. Kipp and J. Wood Clark, whose abilities and high character eminently fit them for great service to the Commonwealth in the important offices for which they have been nominated. Greater, however, than the honor is the call of a united Democracy to every citizen irrespective of his previous political affiliations to join in a vigorous effort to vindicate the fame of Pennsylvania, by making impossible the spoliation of its treasury, by resisting any attempt to make seats upon her bench of justice a subject of partisan or private favor, and by wresting the State from the grasp of any combination whose motive is selfish and its bond of cohesion the division of the offices of the people as political spoil. The call to perform any part in such a movement transcends all personal consideration and should be stronger than any party ties. It is the obligation of patriotism.

Importance is Apparent.

"The office of Justice of the Supreme Court is so long in term, of such importance, involves so great responsibilities and demands such high qualifications as to demand the serious consideration of every citizen of Pennsylvania. We elect the President of the United States and the Governor of this Commonwealth for terms of four years, and we choose our representatives in Congress and in our State Legislature for two years, but the Justices of the Supreme Court hold their positions for terms of twenty-one years, so that during that time five Presidents and an equal number of Pennsylvania's Governors will occupy their executive chairs, while ten Congressmen and legislators may have followed each other in Washington and Harrisburg.

"Judged then by the length of term alone, the importance of the proper choice of our Supreme Court justices is most apparent; but measured by the power vested in that great tribunal it is manifest that no office within the gift of the people, indeed no office of any kind, is of such paramount importance as that held by those, who are chosen to sit in final judgment upon the rights of their fellow men. Legislation is created by our lawmakers, with the power in the executive only to approve or negative those laws, a power limited in negation by the right of the lawmaking body to override the veto by a proper majority of its members. But with the Supreme Court rests the greater power not only of constructing legislation, but of actually nullifying it, if in their judgment such laws are in violation of the Constitution.

An Attribute of Divinity

"The executive authority also extends, although in a somewhat limited form, to the appointment of certain offices, but then only with Senatorial consent while the appellate courts may, if called upon, place the final seal of approval upon the right to hold or the tenure of any office conferred by the gift of the executive, or even secured by the exercise of the elective franchise.

"Important as are these duties of courts of last resort, there is a further power conferred upon these tribunals so great as to elevate them above any other earthly position—a power which is one of the attributes of divinity—that of judging without question, and without appeal the rights of their fellow men, whether of life, of liberty, or of property. A man may live or die, as may be the judgment of the Supreme Court; he may be deprived of his liberty during his life, or for a term of years, as they may determine; his character and reputation may be preserved or destroyed, as they may adjudge; or his property may be conveyed to him or swept from him forever, as may be finally adjudicated.

"It is therefore undeniable that there is no office within the gift of the electors of the Commonwealth so important in the preservation of their rights, if properly administered, or so fraught with danger to all they hold dear, if unjustly exercised, as that of membership in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania—a position which should be held by those only whose judgment shall be unbiased, perfectly just and at all times wholly impartial and unrepentant.

Not Spoils For Politicians.

"It was never intended by the framers of our form of government that the selection of those who are to pass upon the rights of their fellow citizens, whether in the courts of the first instance or in the tribunals of last resort, should be placed in the hands of a small number of men, whoever they may be, or however great their power; nor that those high offices should be the spoils of politics or the rewards of partisan services; such a selection would be abhorrent to every good citizen, and we may well believe that Pennsylvania will never deliberately consent that the ermine of her highest judiciary shall come to the bench of that great tribunal smirched with the mire of the lowest form of political partisanship or labeled with the proprietary mark of any clique or faction. Should the hour ever come when seats upon the appellate bench of our Commonwealth—that last barrier against anarchy and civic destruction—shall in any degree be held by those who have been selected otherwise than by the will of the people first expressed in their preliminary convention and finally by their honestly taken and counted ballots at the polls, the day will have dawned when civic righteousness and liberty shall cease and wickedness and injustice shall direct our destinies.

System Was Abolished.

"Until 1850 the selection of the judiciary of our Commonwealth was confined within the appointive power of the Governor, but always and only by and with the advice and consent of the majority of the members of the State Senate, a body chosen by the votes of the electors, answerable directly to them, and in every sense therefore the representatives of the people of Pennsylvania. In the year and by the adoption of the amended constitution this system was abolished, solely because the citizens of our Commonwealth demanded that all those who were to sit in judgment upon their rights of life, liberty and property should be chosen directly by them. Jealous of these rights the people of our Commonwealth demanded that they alone should be vested with this power, purposing thereby to protect themselves from the great wrong which might be done them if the selection of their judges should remain with one man, even though he might be the one they had elected as their executive and his choice required the approval of a responsible legislative body.

Issue Before People.

"Not for one moment did the voters for the constitutional amendment of 1850 believe that by its approval they had enabled that choice to be wrested from them by any body of men, however important they might be, who were not chosen directly by them and voiced their will; much less could they have conceived that the time might come in Pennsylvania when a small number, and not clothed with any power directly from the people, could so manipulate politics or obtain such control of any party, that by or through any political machinery they could name any one of the members of a court having the power to pass in final judgment upon the right of all the citizens of this Commonwealth to their lives, their liberty, their honor and their property. If that condition has now been brought about we may as well say that there is an issue before the people of Pennsylvania more important than any they have ever met and we may rest assured will be determined by them with no uncertain voice and for the full protection of their rights, to the end that this shall be a government by the people and under the law.

Superlative Power.

"He who may receive the favor of the majority of the suffrages of our people on November 2nd, next, by an election as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, will be endowed by them for twenty-one years with superlative power over all that concerns every citizen's welfare and happiness. The importance of the position, the awful responsibility which will rest upon him and the necessity for his purity of life and honesty of action must weigh upon his soul with thoughts to make him tremble. I accept your nomination to this great office only with the honest desire and firm intent to serve the people honestly, faithfully and impartially should they in their wisdom make me their choice at the polls. I will fairly and honestly endeavor to win their votes, and if successful will assume the duties of the office unbiased by any obligations, trusting always to be divinely guided in the right way, the path of rectitude, of impartial justice and full integrity.

PENN' AT GETTYSBURG

Names for the Arch of Triumph Memorial Wanted Correctly.

A circular letter has been issued from the headquarters of the department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, at Philadelphia, a copy of which has been sent to each post in the state. It states that the state of Pennsylvania is now erecting on the Gettysburg battlefield a magnificent memorial to the soldiers of the state who fought there for the preservation of the union on July 1, 2 and 3, 1863. The circular says that the commission has resolved to place around the base of the memorial, bronze tablets containing the names of every soldier of a Pennsylvania organization who fought in the battle. It is desired that these names shall be correctly spelled, and that the name of no man who was engaged in the battle be omitted. Therefore the commission desires the surviving soldiers of each regiment engaged there to assist them in revising the lists, correcting the spelling of names, etc., and it therefore desires to obtain the names of surviving officers or soldiers who will take sufficient interest to go over the rolls and revise the lists. Such information if it is requested, be forwarded to Comrade St. Clair Mulholland, United States pension agent at Philadelphia, so that he may correspond with survivors' associations or surviving members, who will take an interest in the matter. The circular states that information of the following regiments is particularly desired:

Infantry—Twenty-seventh, Thirty-fourth (fifth Reserves), Thirty-eighth (Ninth Reserves), Fortieth (Eleventh Reserves), Forty-first (twelfth Reserves), Forty-sixth, Forty-ninth, Fifty-sixth, Seventy-third, Seventy-fourth, Seventy-fifth, Eighty-first, Eighty-fourth, Ninety-third, Ninety-sixth, Ninety-eighth, One Hundred and Fifth, One Hundred and Tenth, One Hundred and Eleventh, One Hundred and Fifteenth, One Hundred and Twenty-first, One Hundred and Forty-second, One Hundred and Forty-seventh, One Hundred and Forty-ninth, One Hundred and Fifty-first, One Hundred and Fifty-third, One Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiments.

Cavalry—Second, Fourth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth regiments.

Big Comet Coming.

"If you live until next spring you are going to witness one of the most magnificent sights the heavens have ever disclosed before your eyes," says a well known member of the astronomical force of the United States Naval Observatory. This comet comes only once in a lifetime, and many persons are born, live and die without ever catching a glimpse of the marvelous dash of fire across the skies. It was last seen in 1835, and few persons now alive can say they have ever witnessed it.

The astronomical world is now on the watch, and huge refracting and reflecting telescopes are trained upon the heavens from many points on the earth in a common effort to locate the comet, which is approaching the earth at a terrific rate. There is a friendly rivalry to see which will be the first to pick up the comet with their mirrors.

The comet in its full refulgence is not due until 1910, but by spring it will probably be near enough to be visible to the naked eye. In the past it has spanned the heavens from horizon to horizon, covering as much as 100 degrees of celestial territory, and standing out like a great living thing of fire. It is now somewhere off in space, but not yet visible to astronomers. They confidently expect some one to pick it up before the end of 1909 and after that it will increase in splendor and size until it reaches its nearest approach to the earth, some time next spring, after which it will disappear, not to be seen again in seventy-five years.

Father Corby in Bronze

Great impetus was given the movement to erect a bronze monument on the battle-field of Gettysburg to Fr. Corby, Chaplain of the Irish Brigade, at a meeting of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, held in Pittsburg last week. The project is receiving enthusiastic support wherever mentioned, and that a bronze monument to him will be erected seems assured.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Governors of Pennsylvania

WILLIAM FREAME JOHNSTON—1848-1852.

At the time of Governor Shunk's death William Freame Johnston was presiding officer of the senate. Under the provisions of the constitution he at once became the chief executive of the state. Waving this opportunity to step into the office of governor, he at once issued a proclamation for the election of a governor and was himself chosen. He was born in 1808 in Greensburg of Scotch-Irish parentage and was admitted to the bar when twenty-one years of age. He represented Armstrong county in the legislature from 1836 to 1841 and was elected to the state senate in 1847. Upon the expiration of his term as governor he became president of the Allegheny Valley railroad. He was appointed collector of the port of Philadelphia by President Johnson, but by reason of differences between the president and members of the senate his appointment was not approved. He died at Pittsburg Oct. 23, 1872.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE GETTYSBURG NATIONAL MILITARY PARK.

Made to Secretary of War Covering
Their Work for Year Ending
June 30, 1909.

The Commissioners of the Gettysburg National Military Park submitted to the Secretary of War under date of July 1, 1909, the following report of the progress of their work for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909:

General Conditions.

The number of visitors to the field has been greatly in excess of that of previous years, and their conduct has been orderly and exemplary.

It has been the aim of the commission to preserve the landmarks and appearance of the field as it was during the war, and with this purpose in view trees have been replanted in positions where they existed at that time, undergrowth has been cut out, and the line generally denuded by historical tablets.

The avenues as designated have worn well and, being gutted, have not been injured by the heavy rain during the past year.

Few changes have been made in the working force of the field, as the men employed have been well trained and efficient.

The engineer, Lieut. E. B. Cope and his assistants have been actively engaged every day in the year, except holidays, either in the office or on field work.

The general aspect and condition of affairs in the park have been satisfactory to the commission and to those interested.

Public Roads

The following roads have been repaired and taken under contract made by the commission, contract which expired December 1, 1908: viz. Emmitsburg road from the borough line of Gettysburg to the peach orchard; Harrisburg road from borough line to Rock Creek bridge, and Wheatfield road from Rock Creek bridge to Sedgwick avenue—a total distance of 14.5 miles.

A contract was made with M. & F. E. Farrell December 1, 1908, to grade and pave the Hanover road from Rock Creek bridge, 5700 feet also a contract of same date with the same persons to build a two-arched culvert over Benner run on said road. The grading on the west end of this road requires very deep cutting and much filling to reduce the high hill east of Rock Creek to a proper grade for travel.

This work is well under way and will be completed August 1, 1909.

The Hanover road leads in the direction of the east cavalry field, and it is proposed to open a roadway to connect with the avenues of that field, the distance being about 1.2 miles, and which is comparatively level.

There is a short piece of road of the Wheatfield road from the peach orchard westerly to the West Confederate avenue, a distance of 1,700 feet, which it is proposed to pave, thus connecting these two avenues with the other avenues of the park.

Monuments and Markers.

The erection of 45 monuments to the services of the Regulars of the United States Army in the Gettysburg campaign has been previously reported. All were completed July 1, 1908, except the large and principal monument and the four bronze tablets. The inscriptions were prepared under the direction of the National Park Commission, and the tablets were cast and mounted. This completed the contract for the erection of these monuments.

A contract was made September 1, 1908, to furnish and deliver 30 markers, to be made of Winsboro, (S. C.), granite, 10 to be erected to the divisions of the Army of Northern Virginia and 20 to the divisions of the Army of the Potomac, on the Gettysburg battlefield. These markers have been erected, except the one to Kilpatrick's cavalry division, the site for which has been selected, and the marker will be put in place in a short time. Bronze tablets for the Confederate markers have been mounted upon the granite, which is 7 feet high, 50 inches wide, and 24 inches thick; also a plate of bronze with the letters "C. S. A." The inscriptions for the Union tablets have not yet been cast, but the corps badge of bronze has been placed on each.

The location of the Pennsylvania State memorial has been selected east of Hancock avenue and south of Pleasanton avenue, a situation satisfactory to the Pennsylvania State commission.

The legislature of Virginia appropriated $50,000 for a monument to be erected to the soldiers of Virginia who were engaged in the battle of Gettysburg. A commission was appointed to carry out the provisions of this act, viz. Gov. Claude A. Swanson (chairman), Col. H. A. Edmondson, Maj. John W. Daniel, Capt. S. P. Reed and Col. Thomas Smith. This commission visited the Gettysburg battlefield to select a site for the monument, and failing to decide upon a location, deferred action until meeting in the near future.

Twenty-five thousand dollars was appropriated by the legislature of Connecticut to erect a monument to Maj. Gen. John Sedgwick on the battlefield. The location and design for this monument has not up to this time been decided on.

The legislature of Delaware passed an act giving authority to the commission to remove the Second Delaware monument from the Wheatfield to the left of Brooke's brigade—its position during the battle. This change was approved by the Secretary of War.

In the report of 1908 the bronze interpretive tablets were in process of erection. These have now been set up and completed. A large number of non-tablets are distributed over the battlefield, and are kept in repair by repainting. The guns at positions representing batteries on the artillery line are also kept in repair. No new gun carriages have been placed since the last report.

Land Acquired.

The purchase of the Haller property on the Emmitsburg and Wheatfield roads was made. Some of the buildings on the land, erected since the war, were taken down, others moved to a more suitable location, and the whole put in complete repair. A tablet will be set up marking the location of the Wentz house—the name of the owner at the time of the battle.

An offer has been made for the purchase of the hospital woods, containing about 19 acres, on the south side of York pike; also an offer to purchase a tract on the west side of the Emmitsburg road opposite the peach orchard. This contains about 9.1-2 acres.

After reference to Encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and visit of the West Point Cadets, and the Dedication of United States Regular Monuments, the report closes with following mention made of The Lincoln Way. It having been proposed to establish a national roadway from Well Sold Farms.

Jacob H. Rudisill and Andrew B. Rudisill, attorneys-in-fact for the widow and heirs at law of Jacob B. Rudisill, sold the farm of 104 acres and 114 perches, located partly in Oxford township and partly in Conowingo township, Adams County, improved with 2-story brick dwelling, large frame barn, and other buildings, to Mrs. Wm. Wolfley, of Hanover, at $90 per acre—total $15,744.12.

John P. Rahn and Samuel Rahn, executors of the estate of Washington Rahn, sold the "Big Woods," in Union township, One tract containing 4 acres and 2 perches, to George Wolfley, of Conowingo Township, at $90.50 per acre and second tract one acre and 16 perches to Elmer E. Wilt, of Conowingo township, for $181.

Fred Winand has purchased the Daniel Harbold property in Latimore township from Hon. George H. Trostle for $885.

The real estate of John Wisler, dec'd. in Reading township of 56 acres, was sold to Jacob Rummel at $1291, and 16 acres to George Harman, at $175.

The farm of the late Jacob H. Rudisill, situate partly in Penn township, York county, and partly in Conowingo township, this county, was sold last Friday by J. H. and A. H. Rudisill, attorneys-in-fact for the widow and heirs at law. The farm contains 149 acres and 151 perches and is improved with a two story brick dwelling, brick wash house, large frame bank barn, three tenant houses, two wagon sheds and necessary outbuildings. Jacob Wetzel and wife of Penn township, tenants on the farm, were the purchasers, at $141.50 per acre—a total of $21,217.04.

Mediterranean Moth.

The large flouring mill of Mrs. Catharine Diehl, operated by the Diehl Milling Company, along the Gettysburg pike near New Oxford, for some time has been experiencing difficulty in operating the mill on account of the flour spouts, etc., becoming clogged. Upon investigation it was learned that the difficulty was produced by an insect spinning webs through the flour and chopping flues. Word was sent to the State Department and an expert was sent here to make an examination, when it was found that the trouble was caused by Mediterranean Flour Moth having invaded the mill. The entire building and machinery was fumigated by the State official at a cost of over $100 to the proprietors and millions of the insects were killed.

Gen. Wiley Retires.

Four years in the Civil War, nine months in the Spanish-American War and nearly forty years in the National Guard of Pennsylvania is the military record of Major General John A. Wiley, aged 62 years of Franklin, whose commission expired last week and who on account of his age, is no longer eligible as a commander of troops of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. General Wiley is two years past the retiring age now, but the law passed in 1907 was so framed as to allow him to hold a major general's commission for two years from the time of his appointment in August of that year. General Wiley was a veteran friend of Gettysburg and enthusiastic lover of the beautiful camp sites the grounds enjoyed here.

LEADER AMONG NEWSPAPERS

The Philadelphia Record a Journal That is not Selfish as to News.

One of the many traits that commend the Philadelphia Record to the people, who do not live in the great cities, is that it is a newspaper that is not selfish about its news, and is not city-centered in its ambitions. There has long been a well-grounded complaint that most of the great metropolitan dailies are provincial, and take it for granted that city news is all that is necessary for them to print.

The Record apparently takes a different view. While giving a faithful chronicle of all that occurs in its own city, it does not neglect or skip the news of any part of the wide field that it covers. Any issue of this big newspaper is full of proof that it prints full and reliable reports of everything of interest that occurs in its whole territory.

The Record is refreshingly different from other big dailies in many ways. It is steady and reliable, and not prone to get wildly excited over some spectacular muck-raking crusade of its own making. Instead of packing its columns with frenzied discussions, it simply prints the news, and, according to well verified claims, more items of news than any other newspaper in the country.

Merchants in Regular Session.
A very good attendance was present at the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association on last Friday evening. President E. P. Miller made a brief report of what was done at the State convention at Pottsville, and of his efforts to secure the convention here next year. He found Butler on the ground with half dozen workers and claiming the convention as belonging next year to western part of the State and Mr. Miller received a number of assurances that fact alone prevented Gettysburg winning out, receiving as it were the handsome support of 27 votes.
Mr. Kieffer, the secretary, reported that he had visited a number of merchants who had not yet joined the association and that eight more had joined and paid the initiation dues, bringing the membership up to a total of 57 members.

A petition was presented for the endorsement of the association, asking the McSherrytown and Hanover Railway Company to go ahead and build the branch from McSherrytown to Gettysburg, assuring the company that the project had the support of the people of Gettysburg, who believed it would be a paying project. Upon motion the officers were instructed to sign the petition for the association. In addition those present signed the petition.

A report was asked from the special legal committee and it was stated that committee had come to the conclusion that there were no borough ordinances governing the matter of a curb market, that existing ordinances regulated peddling and taking orders, but did not seem to cover a curb market or store. The committee was directed by the association to draw up and submit an ordinance on the subject to the association, which after action would be submitted to the Town Council.

The railroad committee reported that the Reading Railway Co. had been addressed on the subject of an earlier train into this place in the morning but that no answer had been received as yet.

County S. S. Convention.
The annual convention of the Adams County Sunday School Association will be held next week, Sept. 14 and 15, 1909, in Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville. The following program has been arranged:

Hesson; Response: 2:45 "What Constitutes Good Sunday School Singing?" I. L. Taylor; 3:20 "Practical Sunday School Methods," W. D. Reed; 4:00 Reports of Departments and Business.

Tuesday evening.—7:00 o'clock, Service of Song, I. L. Taylor; Devotional Service: 7:30 "Getting and Holding Men," O. P. Beckly; 8:00 "The Teacher's Mission and Reward," Rev. J. L. Dow Ott.

Wednesday morning.—8:40 o'clock, Service of Song, I. L. Taylor; Prayer: 9:00 "The Pastor's Sunday School Ideal," Rev. G. W. Sherrick; 9:20 "The Worth of the Superintendent," Prof. Chas. F. Saunders; 9:40 "Practical Primary Methods," Miss Cora N. Coates; 10:15 "Forward Movements in County Organization," W. D. Reel; 11:00 Business and Elections.

Wednesday afternoon.—1:30 o'clock, Service of Song, I. L. Taylor; Prayer: 1:50 "What Constitutes a Well Organized Sunday School?" Rev. Stanley Billheimer; 2:15 "The Cradle Roll, Its Importance and Methods," Miss Cora N. Coates; 2:45 Round Table on Sunday School Management, W. D. Reel; 3:30 Open Parliament—Two Minute Speeches on Helpful Thoughts From This Convention.

Wednesday evening.—7:15 o'clock, Service of Song, I. L. Taylor; Devotional Service: "A Call to Service," Rev. R. J. Pilgrim.

Another Residence Begun.
Thos. Biddle has started to erect a two story brick dwelling on south side Water street, near Carlisle street—Frank Stallsmith of Carlisle street contractor.

THE LAST SUMMONS HEARD

AND ANSWERED BY A NUMBER WELL KNOWN IN THIS COUNTY

Several Were Suddenly Stricken—
Mrs. J. Howard Wert was a Native of Gettysburg.

Mrs. Emma Aughinbaugh Wert, wife of Prof. J. Howard Wert of Harrisburg, died suddenly on Sunday night, Aug. 29, at Chataqua Inn, Mount Gretna, where she had gone for the benefit of her health. Mrs. Wert, who had been failing for a number of years went to Mount Gretna several weeks ago with her daughter, Miss Anne U. Wert, principal of the Teachers' Training School in Harrisburg. She seemed to improve at the resort, and on Sunday appeared particularly well and bright. Mrs. Wert and her daughter had communicating rooms in the inn and as they were preparing to retire, Miss Wert heard a fall in her mother's room. She found her collapsed on the floor. A doctor who was summoned, declared that the base of the brain had been affected by a stroke, and that nothing could be done. Death resulted shortly afterward. Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Wert leaves four sons as follows: Howard Houck Wert, a postal clerk on the New York to Pittsburgh route, Edward H. Wert, attorney-at-law; Samuel S. Wert of the Harrisburg Pipe Bending Works, and Frank W. Wert, news editor of the Philadelphia "Ledger." C. E. Aughinbaugh, the State Printer is a brother, and there are two sisters, Miss Mattie B. Aughinbaugh of Gettysburg, and Mrs. C. H. Leeds of Washington. Mrs. Wert was born October 17, 1845, at Gettysburg, and remained there until her marriage to Prof. Wert. During the battle of Gettysburg she was residing on Carlisle street, down which the 11th Corps was driven on the first day in a hail of bullets. She carried water to the soldiers that day as they went into the field until the bullets became so thick that she was not allowed to go forth again. In 1869 Prof. Wert was County Superintendent of the Adams county schools, and Miss Aughinbaugh was a teacher. They were married that year and in 1875 came to Harrisburg, residing there ever since. Mrs. Wert was a member of the Lutheran church for years. The funeral was on last Wednesday, the services being conducted by Rev. Stewart W. Herman, her pastor, assisted by Rev. Rene H. Williams, and body was brought to Gettysburg, interment being made in the Evergreen cemetery, her four sons acting as pall bearers.

NORMAN FRANCIS BUMBAUGH died on last Sunday about midnight at the home of his brother George, York Street, aged 22 years, 8 months and 22 days. Death was due to typhoid fever and peritonitis. He was confined to his bed for two weeks and his many friends in this place anxiously hoping for his recovery. His death is a specially sad one, cut down in the strength and brightness of young manhood, one who had won the admiration and respect of this community by his many admirable qualities, good habits and many ways. He had won his way early in life by meritorious work and good life. He had gone from the Tawney bakery to the Reading railway and as one of the most courteous brakemen of that road had made a host of friends. Life's best promises were all ahead of him, almost in his grasp. He was a member of the Elks and the Patriotic Order Sons of America. The funeral will be held in the Methodist Church at 2:30 this Wednesday afternoon, Rev. L. Dow Ott officiating, and the Elks will have charge of the services. The P. O. S. of A. will attend in a body and also take part in the services. He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bumbaugh, one sister Mrs. B. W. Redding and five brothers, Samuel J., George, Carson, Harry and Clarence Bumbaugh, all of this place.

JAMES C. GALT, a representative citizen of Taneytown, died very suddenly on Monday morning of last week from heart failure. Mr. Galt had been suffering from heart trouble for a number of years, but was not incapacitated from performing his customary duties, and was up and about as usual, being stricken while walking through the garden to his barn, death immediately ensuing. He was Pres. of the Taneytown Savings Bank, a position which he had creditably filled for a number of years, and more remotely he had been engaged in the warehouse business with the late T. H. Eckenrode. He was held in the highest esteem as a citizen and business man, and was well known in Gettysburg. He leaves one brother, Samuel Galt of Copperville, and two sisters, Miss Ellen of Taneytown, and Mrs. Sue Birnie of Philadelphia, the only survivors of a large family long connected with the history of Taneytown. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, interment following at Piney Creek Presbyterian church, his pastor, Rev. H. A. Goff, officiating.

GEO. F. FORNEY died at the old Forney home in Hanover, on Sunday, Aug. 29, aged 58 years. He was a son of the late Karl Forney, well known as a land owner in Hanover and a prominent citizen in the early history of that place. At the age of 22 years the young man went west and took up life as a ranchman and a few years ago disposed of his western ranch and had been seeking health at resorts for several years and arrived at his old home ten days before his death. The funeral was on last Wednesday, interment in the family lot in the Hanover cemetery. Mr. Forney was unmarried and is survived by four brothers, Robert Forney of Oakland, Cal., William Forney of Ogden, Wyoming, John W. Forney of Steubenville, Ohio, and Samuel H. Forney of Hanover.

At the Gettysburg Brick Plant.

W. F. Oswald, General Manager of the Auburn Shale Brick Company visited the Gettysburg plant last week and was very much pleased with the work accomplished at the plant here by Superintendent Tippery. Hundreds of thousands of brick have already been made and the company is able not only to supply all local demands but are shipping their goods. The bricks are larger than the ordinary sized brick, so that a certain quantity of their brick will go much further than a like quantity of the ordinary size and this fact makes their price to the local trade better than can be obtained elsewhere to which is added the extra fine quality of their material. The plant is experimenting with a force draught by tunnel to one of their kilns, and if it proves successful all the kilns will be placed under force draught, which means a saving in the making of brick, as it takes less fuel.

Lumber for Battlefield

Capt. Calvin Gilbert has been at work at his foundry for some time, on the designs for a limber. The limber was designed after the pattern of those used in the artillery service during the civil war, and is made of iron to correspond with the gun carriages he has been making. He expects to complete a limber at an early date. He is making two of them, and they will be placed in the rear of the guns marking the position of Cushings battery at Bloody Angle.

57 years. She had gone to that institution three weeks ago in the hope of saving her life by an operation but cancer of liver and intestinal obstruction was too far advanced, and caused her death. She was the only daughter of the late Mathias and Catharine Trone, and being left an orphan at an early age, lived with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Q. Albright. After they passed away she lived with another aunt, Miss Pamela Trone and at her death with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice N. Trone in the old home. She was an earnest and faithful member of the Reformed church and active in all church and Sunday School work. She was identified with all church societies and was a member of the Relief Committee of Hanover for years, having charge of the distribution of the funds for the relief of the worthy poor. She was well known in Gettysburg where she had many warm friends. The funeral was held last Saturday, Rev. Ellis S. Hay conducting services, interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Hanover.

FREDERICK F. WEIGART, aged 51 years, a Director of Poor of York county, died last Thursday. Mr. Weigart with his wife attended the Grangers' picnic at Williams' Grove on Wednesday, and it was while the former was inside one of the tents erected by a farming implement agent, that his wife noticed that he appeared to be sick. He was assisted to the office of a physician at the grove, where it was found that the stroke had affected his left side and death quickly followed. The funeral was held on last Saturday. Surviving him are his widow and eight children; Walter, living near East Berlin; Lewis of Baltimore, Robert, Earl and Norman, and Margaret, living at home. Mrs. Philip Yost of near Barnes' church, and Mrs. Harry Bentz living upon a farm adjoining that of her father and several brothers and sisters.

MRS. HENRY SHUMARD died at her home at Spring Lake Beach, New Jersey on Monday of last week. She was born in Butler township where she lived until her marriage. The funeral was held at Arendtsville last Thursday, interment in Greengrout Cemetery of that place. She leaves beside her husband, one sister and four brothers, Mrs. Jacob Bittinger and John F. Lupp of Arendtsville, James P. Lupp of Aspers and George Lupp of Steelton.

JACOB M. BONEBRAKE died at his home in Waynesboro last Wednesday from pulmonary diseases aged 55 years. He took a cold four years ago from which he never entirely recovered. He was twice married. There was no children by his first wife. His second wife was Miss Sarah Mickleby of this county, who survives.

EUGENE F. MYERS, a salesman of the Brooklyn Varnish Mfg. Co., committed suicide in the Ashland House, New York City, on Saturday, Aug. 28, by inhaling gas. He left two letters one addressed to his brother, Charles W. Myers, of Brooklyn, and the other to his wife. The one to his brother requests him to look after his wife, asking "do the right thereby her, and see that she gets the endowment due her from my membership in the Royal Arcanum. I am under a great strain, and can stand it no longer." His brother Charles stated when he left for New York on Saturday, he was apparently in the best of spirits, and so far as he knew there was no assignable reason for his brothers act.

Eugene F. Myers, was the youngest son of the late Jacob and Mrs. Mary A. Myers of New Oxford, born and reared there, and was aged 45 years, and five months. When a boy he learned the jewelry business with his cousin, Penrose Myers, in Gettysburg. Later he carried on jewelry business at Delta, York Co., where he married Mrs. Laura Ramsey. Several years later he discontinued the jewelry business, and for the past 20 years has been employed as a traveling salesman. Deceased was of kind and jovial disposition, and made fast friends wherever he went. The remains were taken to New Oxford, to the home of his mother, and the funeral was held last Wednesday morning. Services being held by Rev. George N. Lauffer, and the remains were taken to Hanover where interment was made in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. Besides his mother and devoted wife, he is survived by three brothers—James B. of New York, Charles W. of Brooklyn, and Lewis E. of Switch Back, W. Va.

MRS. HARRY J. BENNETT, died at her home at Seven Stars in Franklia township, on last Saturday morning. She had been ill for some time. Her maiden name was Fior, being a daughter of the late Samuel Fior, the family living a number of years in Fairfield. The funeral was held yesterday—Tuesday—interment in Fairfield Cemetery. She leaves beside her husband, eight children as follows: John Bennett, of Dayton, Ohio; William Bennett, of Missouri; Marion A. Bennett, of San Diego, California; Amos Bennett, of Utah; Mrs. Amanda Shriver, of Ill.; Frederick, Adam and Lillie, at home.

Rev. A. A. Parr Recovering

We are heartily glad to be able to correct this week an item in our last issue and state that the condition of Rev. Amos A. Parr is very much improved, and that his complete recovery is expected at an early date. He has been critically ill at the home of his sister in Littlestown from valvular heart trouble. We were misled last week by a notice first seen in a York paper, and appearing later in several other papers.

INFORMATION FOR FARMERS

SPECIAL INQUIRIES SHOULD BE ACCOMPANIED BY SPECIMENS

What To Do for the Grape Vine. Leaf-Hopper and the Potato Stalk-Borer.

A Lancaster correspondent wrote to State Zoologist H. A. Surface for information in regard to a "small, white greenish bug," as he described it, which is destroying the leaves on his grape vines.

The Professor's reply to this letter was as follows:

"Replying to your recent letter, stating that there is a small white greenish bug on the under sides of your grape leaves, which causes them to dry up, I beg to say that I should not venture a guess as to what this is without seeing it, as there are several kinds of insects that may attack the grape leaf. Always with such inquiries specimens should be sent to us by mail, as it becomes impossible to suggest the proper treatment without accurate knowledge of the cause, and this can not be ascertained without the examination of the specimens, and, in fact, the injured parts of the plant should also be sent.

"However, in your case I think the pest is the Grape Vine Leaf-Hopper, which can be killed by spraying with ten per cent. kerosene emulsion, or with one pound of whale oil soap in six gallons of water. Of course, this must reach the under sides of the leaves, where the pests live. If the material is used much stronger than the proportions here named, it may damage the foliage, but as the Leaf-Hoppers fly to the ground or grass in an attempt to rub the spray liquid off their wings after they are sprayed, it is possible to spray them again on the ground with a stronger solution, and thus kill them without injury to the grape leaves. It is evident that these are sucking insects, and, consequently, must be killed by contact sprays. They can not be killed by arsenical or internal poisons such as we would use for the chewing insects.

"You should also fertilize the ground around your grape vines and stimulate the growth of the vines by watering frequently. Soap suds from the wash tub, poured abundantly about the roots, would be good for it. Loosen the soil so the water will penetrate it well. A little commercial fertilizer or small quantity of nitrate of soda added to the water will be a help."

The Potato Stalk-Borer.

Three specimens of potato stalks were received by the Division of Zoology of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture from Chester county, which had been killed by insects, and information concerning the same was requested:

State Zoologist Surface, in reporting upon them, said: "The potato stalks you sent to us contain insects known as Potato Stalk-borers. This pest can not be killed after it enters the stalk. The only thing to do is to pull and burn the diseased vines as soon as the insects are discovered. Do not let the vines lie around to wilt, but burn them as soon as they have become infested. This disposition of the vines may demand co-operation by other persons in the neighborhood, if their potato stalks have been attacked, but it may be the only way to prevent a serious outbreak of the pests, and great loss in the next year. It is a comparatively new pest, and shows that such things are coming before us more and more, and need our careful attention."

Shippensburg Calls Rev. Van Ormer

At a recent congregational meeting of the members of the Memorial Lutheran church, Shippensburg, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. Dr. Van Ormer, Norwood, to become their pastor. He is a graduate of Gettysburg College Memorial Lutheran church has been without a pastor since the death of Rev. Dr. G. C. Henry in January. It is not known if Dr. Van Ormer will accept or not. At the same meeting it was decided to make improvements to the church and parsonage, the work to cost about $4000.

The Troubles of a French Academician.

The candidate, once elected, is bound to pronounce a harangue before he is allowed to take part in the work of the noble body. The director who happens to be in office answers him. This oration is invariably, or at least should be, composed first of thanks, more or less humble, for the great honor conferred, then of a panegyric of the happy one's predecessor. And, oh, how difficult that sometimes must be! More than one has rushed to the encyclopedia, then to the libraries, so as to get some clear notion of the illustrious ex-eminence! Then fate is often ironical. A historian may have to celebrate the talent of a writer of light comedies, a legitimist may have to praise a Socialist, or else the newly elected member may have to speak of his most intimate enemy.—Jeanne Mairat in Atlantic.

Ancient Derricks.

Probably the oldest derricks still in use are the two built at Trier, in Germany. In the year 1413 and the one built in 1554 at Anderbach, also in Germany. All these three derricks are built on the same principle. In the middle of a massive A frame tower is located the swinging or main boom, 20 by 20 inches, whose iron pivot moves in a pan shaped bearing cup. On top are fastened the guy ropes and the cap, which is also movable. The derrick can be moved by crossbars fastened to the main boom. The chain lifted by tread wheels a feet in diameter.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and four of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:

The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms, so as to read:—

The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years, and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections, but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years, No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district, so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

Section 8. Amend section fourteen of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only; provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law; provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

ROBERT McAFEE,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

WITH THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

And a Pair of Loving Hearts to Enjoy Them All.

By NELLE B. RANSOM.

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

Dorothy Allen sat on the broad, white pillared porch watching the road that wound between the trees to the village. She had watched the road a great deal during the last few days, at first with happy anticipation, but now with helpless longing.

It was had enough in the daytime, but it was worse when it grew too dark to see who was coming along the road, for then the footsteps grew louder and louder until she was certain that they were going to turn toward the white pillared porch, only to die away again, leaving her sick with fresh disappointment.

On the previous Sunday evening the vague, beautiful something which had enveloped the whole summer, making it different from any other summer of Dorothy's life, had suddenly taken definite form. A look, a touch, a word or two, and she had found herself without a doubt that John Porter loved her and that she loved him, but he had gone away without any open declaration, and, though Dorothy had watched the road till her eyes ached, he had not returned.

"I might have known it," she said to herself disconsolately. "He is too proud and independent to ask the daughter of a rich man to marry him. Now that his work on the new electric road is finished he will go away, and I shall never see him again."

Dorothy's neighbor, twelve-year-old Gladys, came skipping across the lawn, a very perky pink bow topping her yellow tresses. She perched herself on the broad arm of Dorothy's chair.

"I've been reading such a lovely story," she exclaimed.

"What was it about?" queried Dorothy, with languid interest.

"Oh, it was about a brave knight in shining armor," said Gladys, "and he loved a fair and noble lady who loved him in return. But she had gold and jewels and all that sort of thing, you know, and he hadn't a thing but his charger and his good sword, and so he could never, never ask her to marry him."

"Well," asked Dorothy as Gladys paused for breath, "what happened then?"

"Oh," replied Gladys, "there was nothing for the knight to do but to ride away to the wars, and the princess just sat in her tower and pined and pined till at last she died. Oh, it was perfectly lovely—so sad and sweet!"

"It seems to me," said Dorothy, almost crossly, "that it would have been much more sensible for the knight to stay and marry the lady instead of leaving her to pine and die."

"Why," cried Gladys in disgust, "that would have spoiled the whole story."

She jumped from her perch and was darning down the steps, but turned to call back:

"Oh, say, that Mr. Porter has gone away, hasn't he? I saw him at the station Monday with a suit case in his hand. Aren't his eyes just too handsome for anything? I'm sorry he has left, aren't you?"

Then, having unwittingly destroyed Dorothy's last vestige of hope, Gladys cheerfully departed.

A gray haired man with a keen but kindly face came and stood in the doorway behind Dorothy, noting with an anxious look her drooping figure. He moved unobtrusively once or twice and then came on to where she was sitting.

"You ought to be playing golf this fine weather," he suggested.

"I'm rather tired of golf, father," replied Dorothy.

Mr. Allen took a turn up and down the porch.

"Has that young Porter left? I haven't seen him for several days," he asked, with a carefully careless air.

"I really don't know. Probably he has," replied the girl, sitting very straight and assuming an air even more carefully careless than that of her father.

Mr. Allen after a few more turns and anxious sidelong glances betook himself again to the house. Since the death of Dorothy's mother ten years before the bond of sympathy and understanding between him and his only child had grown unusually strong, but here was a situation which he felt himself incompetent to handle.

Left to herself, Dorothy's sprightly indifference suddenly vanished. Her hands fell listlessly into her lap, and she leaned her head wearily against the back of her chair. So he had gone without even coming to say goodbye! Well, there was no use watching the road any longer.

"It's just like Gladys' story," she sighed. "The knight has got to fight his battles, leaving the poor princess in the castle to pine alone, only, being a twentieth century princess instead of a mediaeval one, I'm afraid I can't die of love. Gladys never did nowadays, I suppose that's one of the modern improvements," she continued whimsically.

An endless procession of dreary years seemed to stretch out before her. She shut her eyes, and two large tears glistened on her dark lashes.

Some one was coming across the lawn, but the footsteps made no sound on the thick turf. When they began to ascend the steps Dorothy opened her eyes with a start, and John Porter stood before her.

There was a wonderfully tender light in his eyes and a determined expression about his mouth. How handsome he looked! How tall and strong he was! Dorothy caught her breath.

"I thought you had gone away," she said, looking at him.

"Only down to the plant on the beach to get the chair changed. He wanted to look over my next job with me. It's a little bigger than anything I've ever undertaken before. But you didn't think I'd go without seeing you again, did you, Dorothy, after Sunday night?"

"I didn't know," murmured Dorothy, her eyes on the big buckles of her colonial slippers.

John Porter seated himself on the porch rail and looked straight at Dorothy's face.

"Dorothy," he said, "I know it's the general opinion that a man has no right to ask a girl with a rich father to marry him until he can provide for her the things she has been accustomed to having, but it seems to me that if a girl really cared for a man she could be nappy with him even if she had to do without some of the things she'd been used to."

"I wonder," thought Dorothy, "if it can be possible that the hero has modern improvements too?"

But she kept her eyes on the big silver buckles, and John Porter continued speaking with deliberate conviction. "And that is why I dare to tell you that you can afford to give up some of the things that money can buy and come and share with me the things that can't be bought. Will you come, Dorothy?"

"Yes," said Dorothy, meeting his look squarely at last, "I will come."

Half an hour later they remembered Dorothy's father.

"He will never allow you to marry me," cried John Porter, "a common builder of roads!"

"A rising young engineer," corrected Dorothy, "come on, I'll manage papa."

"Papa," she announced, pushing aside the portiere with one hand and drawing her lover after her with the other, "I'm going to marry Mr. Porter."

Mr. Allen roused himself from the depth of a leather chair where he had been taking an afternoon nap, started a little at the sight of the young man and looked quizzically at his daughter.

"Your prospects for doing so certainly look a little brighter than they have for the past few days," he remarked.

"Where have you been keeping yourself, Mr. Porter? Dorothy and I had about concluded that you were too busy 'doing things' to give us any attention. But, if Dorothy has made up her mind to marry you, you may as well submit first as last. Do you think you can support her?"

"Not in the style to which she has been accustomed," said John Porter. "But she is willing to dispense with luxuries."

"When I married Dorothy's mother," said Mr. Allen, "she had a little money, which I invested, and after her death I put the investment in Dorothy's name without saying anything to her about it. It's really surprising how that little sum has grown. The income from it is now quite considerable."

He named a sum more than twice John Porter's salary. "I should think this, added to your present income, might provide for love in a cottage."

"With all the modern improvements," said Dorothy softly, with shining eyes.

The Bride's Introduction.

They had been married only two weeks and were going to spend the evening with friends. They were to meet friends of their friends there. It was expected that there would necessarily be a show of dignity when the bridegroom and the bride arrived. All of the company were there and sitting around looking their sweetest when the bridegroom and the bride arrived. A bride always makes dignity essential.

It happened that the bridegroom was the particular friend of the host. The latter had never met the bride. She was coming into an entirely new circle. It was expected when the Newlyweds arrived that Mr. Newlywed would stammer and blush when he introduced Mrs. Newlywed as his wife. Not so for this boy. He sauntered in preceded by the dignified bride. Everybody in the parlor bristled up. But it wasn't to be a bristling affair at all. Mr. Newlywed simply swept around, caught the host by the arm and led him before the bride.

"Have, meet the old lady," he said.

Dignity exit. Everybody laughed and got acquainted in a hurry. The good natured introduction of the host to the bride loosened up the strings of social stress. The "old lady" found herself among friends.—Indianapolis News.

What's In a Name?

One summer a distinguished member of the French academy rented a cottage in Savoy, and when the time came for his return to Paris he went to say farewell to the owner of the cottage, a prosperous farmer's wife.

"I hope you will write your name in my album before you go," she said.

"With pleasure," he replied, and, taking a pen, he wrote his name in the book.

"Thank," she said, "but would you please tell me your profession, so that I can write it after your name?"

"Oh, put down 'landowner,'" he answered.

"But that isn't a profession," she said.

"Well, then, put down 'academicien,'" was his answer.

This word seemed to puzzle her, and therefore he asked, with a smile, "Don't you know what an academicien is?"

"Not quite," she answered, "but it's such a long word that the profession must be a splendid one."

A Caroline Islands Legend.

The Caroline Islands group includes, besides coral islands, five mountainous islands of basaltic formation, beautiful and fertile with rivers and springs. Among the many queer legends of these children of the Pacific there is none more highly improbable than their theory as to the origin of these islands and their inhabitants. They think they themselves were very strong in the water—in fact, they lived in it. The story goes that a woman and her children were floating around on the reef when a man appeared from the west with a basket of soil on his shoulders. He had started out to make an island with a mountain on it. One of the children cried out to him, "Give us a little soil to make a place for our mother to rest, for she is very weak and cannot swim." He took out a handful of the earth and threw it down, making an island. As the man was going on his way over the water the son slyly made a hole in the basket, so as he proceeded on his way he left a trail of land behind. Suddenly he became conscious that the basket seemed light, and, looking around, he saw the land. In his anger he turned about and trod upon it, and thus the islands were formed.

An Apt Answer.

The dangers associated with the fishing industry on the Newfoundland banks are many and grave. Foremost among them is that the dories may be upset while fishing, which involves almost inevitable loss of their occupants. Callous captains, secure themselves from the necessity of going, frequently order their men out when the weather does not warrant it, and disastrous are the results. One of these brutal skippers was aptly answered once by a bank man of whose courage or capacity there was no question.

"Out with you!" shouted the captain. "Hurry up there! It's a fishing day!"

"Oh, no, skipper!" replied the dory man. "It's too stormy today for a boat to fish."

"Nonsense, man!" rejoined the skipper. "If my old grandmother was here today she'd get her dory out."

"Then, skipper," said the man, "if her grandson will come out with me now I'll land my trawl."

It is needless to say no dories were launched from that schooner on that date.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Barrie and Kipling.

Mr. Barrie was one day at Waterloo station in a hurry to catch a train. He was hastening from the bookstall laden with papers, "a good many sixpenny ones among them," he dolefully relates, when, in rushing around a corner, he fell into the arms of Rudyard Kipling, equally in a tearing hurry. They turned on each other with scowling faces, then smiled in recognition and asked each other whether he went. Then Kipling, exclaiming, "Lucky beggar, you've got papers!" seized the bundle from Barrie, flung him some money and made off. "But you did not stoop to pick up his dirty halfpence, did you?" queried one of Mr. Barrie's hearers amusedly. "Didn't I, though?" returned Barrie, and added ruefully, "But he hadn't flung me half enough."—St. James' Gazette.

Rose Colds From Paper Roses.

"A patient of mine is subject to rose colds," a doctor said. "She caught a bad rose cold last week from a bouquet of artificial roses. That often happens. It is supposed to show the mystic, psychological aspect of disease, but as a matter of fact it is just as natural to take a rose cold from paper roses as from the real kind. Why? Because the paper roses that bring on rose colds are always perfumed. It is the fact, you know, to perfume artificial flowers. The scent used is the essential oil of roses, and it is this oil in the natural flowers that causes rose colds."—New York Press.

A Keen Observer.

Ethel, aged three, had been to visit her cousins, two fun loving and romping boys. She had climbed upon her father's knee and was telling him of her visit. "Papa, every night John and George say their prayers they ask God to make them good boys," said she.

"That is nice," said papa.

Then, thinking soberly for a few minutes, she said, "He ain't done it yet."—Indianapolis.

Nocturnal Tragedy.

It is a dark night. It is also a dark kitchen. The kind hearted man in his stocking feet is after a drink of water for his fretful youngster. He thinks he can find his way in the inky darkness. He is mistaken. He turns to the left in stead of to the right and falls down cellar.

DRY SUMMER 62 YEARS AGO.

EAST BERLIN, Sept. 6.—I have heard many people say they never saw such a dry summer. I can go back to 1847 to the month of May of that year there was a hail storm in vicinity of Hampton with hail stones as large as hen eggs, doing much damage. In July and August of the same year, there was no rain of any account and there was very little corn. I lived with my grandfather. He obtained from 14 acres only one English seed full of corn. The farmers at that time put out their seedling with single and double shovel plows and I helped at the wheat plowing with a single plow. It was so dusty you could scarcely see the team ahead. Many farmers did not seed until October, as late as between Oct. 10th and 15th. A heavy rain came that washed some hilly fields, after that the ground was in good order to seed. Your correspondent well remembers that the Conowago was so low that fish died in shallow water and after the rain there were lots of dead fish at Deardorff's dam near Hafer's. The mills were shut down along the Conowago on account of low water. My grandfather went twice to Cumberland county with wheat for flour and rye and corn for chop. He had two brothers who were millers and lived along the Yellow Breeches. There were many farmers who hauled their grain by four horse loads to Cumberland county to be ground.

John E. Bosserman of Reading township, executor of Rev. Emanuel Goehenaur, dec'd sold the farm in Washington township, York County, three miles north of this place along the Conowago, 140 acres at $64.50 per acre, a total of $9,030. Daniel Goehenaur being the purchaser.

Miss Mae A. Kuhn, of New York City; Miss Marguerite Kuhn, of Brooklyn; Misses Bertha H. Kuhn and Besse Kuhn, of Willowdale; L. G. Kuhn, of Harrisburg, and Dennis Holley, of New York, spent Sunday with John R. Kuhn, Esq., at his summer home near East Berlin. The trip was made in an automobile.

WEDDING AND CALLITHUMPIAN

BARLOW, Sept. 6th.—W. S. Jacobs of Cumberland township and Miss Nettie Hawk of Taneytown, were married at Mt. Joy parsonage last Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock by Rev. P. T. E. Stockslager, pastor of the groom. A supper was served at the home of the groom in the evening. About 8 o'clock the Barlow Snout Band 40 in number gave the happy couple a grand serenade and in return the band had all they could eat and drink in the way of cakes and lemonade.

L. M. Buehler Successful.

After a great deal of effort and correspondence L. M. Buehler the popular druggist has succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. in making special half price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that L. M. Buehler is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

So great is the demand for this specific that L. M. Buehler has been able to secure only a limited supply, and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once or send 25 cents, and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price offer with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

MARRIAGES.

BOWER — WOLF — Henry Michael Bower, of Hughesville, Lycoming county, and a graduate of Gettysburg College in class of 1908, and Miss Mary Julia Wolf, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolf, at Mt. Wolf, York County. The Rev. J. B. Hutchison, pastor of the Mt. Wolf United Brethren church, officiated, the ring service being used. About 300 relatives and friends witnessed the marriage which took place in the music room of the Wolf mansion. The interior of the house was elaborately decorated, the color scheme being white and red. As the bridal party entered the room Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Edna Flurie, of Newport, Perry county. The bride was attended by Miss Grace H. Bower, of Williamsport, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss S. Grace Houser, Stony Brook, as bridesmaids, and Mrs. Edward E. Knauss, York, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. E. E. Chamberlin, Lima, Ohio, a classmate of groom at college attended the bridegroom as best man. The bride wore a white swiss gown, trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses. After congratulations a wedding dinner was served, and after the feast the newly married couple took their departure on a month's trip in the northern part of this state and New York.

They will be at home to their friends at Hughesville, Lycoming county, after October 1. Numerous valuable gifts of silverware, cut glass, fine china and linens, were received by the bride.

MCALLISTER — FINDLEY — Miss Jennie S. Findley and Garfield McAllister son of Hon. and Mrs. Theodore McAllister of High Street, were quietly married at noon last Friday at the home of the bride, Harrisburg. Rev. J. A. McAllister, of Maysaguez, Porto Rico, performed the ceremony. Miss Ida Findley, a sister of bride, was maid of honor and H. Ross McAllister a brother of the groom, best man. The bride wore a pretty gown of French lawn and carried bride's roses. The maid of honor wore a dainty gown of white tulle and carried pink asters. After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. McAllister will reside in Harrisburg.

FREY — MILLER — The Mennonite church of Hanover was filled on last Sunday morning when the wedding of Clarence C. Frey and Miss Christie V. Miller was solemnized. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Miller, father of the bride. E. J. Herr was the best man, and Mrs. E. J. Herr, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to numerous relatives and friends at the home of the bride. The couple left for York where they boarded a train for a wedding tour of two weeks, during which time they will visit Niagara Falls, Buffalo, N. Y., and other points of interest. The groom is a son of Mr. Martin Frey of near McSherrystown. The bride is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Miller of York Road Station.

Grains Crisp and Gigantic— Eight Times Size

Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice—the foods shot from guns—are eight times natural size.

They are four times as porous as bread. They are nut-like, crisp and brown.

And they are digestible, for every starch granule has been literally blasted to pieces.

That's about all we can say. Cold type cannot describe them. There is nothing with which to compare them.

Puffed Wheat—10c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Andersch, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

You will think the foods queer, and they are. But don't think that you will not like them.

Last month, there were seventeen million dishes served in homes that have found them out.

The folks who once taste them, demand them. The folks at your table are just like the rest.

Serve them one package and all will say, "Let us have those puffed foods always."

Puffed Rice—15c

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.
